Kirsten Woodend, RN, PhD

Kirsten is passionate about both nursing and nursing education and demonstrates this through her leadership, teaching, research and service activities. Dr. Woodend has been a member of the CASN board for three years and during that time has contributed in a number of areas including the revisions to the governance structure of CASN, CASN's doctoral position statement and more recently as chair of the working group revising CASN's position statement on baccalaureate education in nursing. She is also the CASN board liaison to the Advisory Ad Hoc Committee on Accreditation.

Dr. Woodend has held a number of leadership positions in health care both in the acute care and public health sectors. She has been a member of numerous Boards of nursing organizations and a member of the Board of Governors of the Ottawa Hospital until her recent move from Ottawa to Peterborough. Kirsten is presently the Dean of the Trent/Fleming School of Nursing and was previously the Director of the School of Nursing at the University of Ottawa. While a member of COUPN Kirsten was actively involved in the HSPnet management committee, Chaired the Evaluation funds committee, sat on the COUPN/CAATS Executive Committee and was a member of several Working groups on special issues. In addition, as a member of the Primary Health Care Nurse Practitioner Consortium Board she chaired the NP Consortium Evaluation Committee; was a Member of the Continuing education committee and of the Governance Working Group.

Lynn Judd, RN, MN

Lynn Judd is well suited for a position on the CASN Board because of her skills, talents and experience as a nurse in the practice and education environments. Lynn embodies the role of teacher and has a deep passion for curriculum development. She has made significant contributions to the development and evaluation of four undergraduate nursing programs in Ontario and Alberta – always taking a leadership role in advancing nursing education. Lynn has completed the Academy for Leadership and Development program, and had a stellar career in nursing education and for the past 6 years has been leading colleagues through her role as Department of Nursing Chair. Her extensive experience supports her understanding of the challenges and complexities of nursing education in Canada.

Lynn thrives in situations that require intense discussion to find a workable solution for large groups with diverse agendas. She is an even handed decision-maker and works tirelessly to build consensus, but is not afraid to stand against the prevailing opinion if she feels strongly about the issue. She has a unique combination of being supportive but challenging so that the measure of success constantly moves forward.

Lynn is a regular participant and active supporter of CASN and WNRCSN at conferences and meetings and she encourages faculty to participate through presentation of their scholarly work. She is an advocate for students and their learning environments and makes time to mentor nursing student leaders. She is currently engaged in two research projects that explore student career choice and engagement. Lynn will bring her expertise as a nurse educator, her wisdom from extensive experience, and her passion for nursing to the Director position on the CASN Board. We would be well served with her advocating for nursing education.
